

Paying for care is easy

This step-by-step guide explains how to use your dependent care flexible spending account.

Step 1

Pay for your eligible dependent care services

Pay for dependent care expenses out of pocket.

- Eligible dependent care expenses generally cover your qualified dependents under the age of 13, disabled spouses or dependent elders.
- Dependent care expenses are for childcare required in order for a caretaker and their spouse, if married filing jointly, to work or look for employment. Spouses are treated as full time employees in any month they are a full time students or physically or mentally able to care for themselves. Day care, preschool, nursery school, day camp, au pair or babysitter, before or after school care, and elder supervision.
- Dependent care expenses are only reimbursable after they are incurred. If you prepay for two weeks of day care, you may only be reimbursed at the end of the two week period you prepaid for.
- For a longer list of eligible items, see optumfinancial.com.

Step 2

Get a receipt from your dependent care provider

Ask your provider for an itemized receipt as documentation — be sure it contains these five pieces of information:

1. Dependent's name(s)
2. Service start + end dates
3. Provider's name + address
4. Description of the service
5. Amount paid

If a receipt is not available, have your provider complete and sign an attestation.

Step 3

Complete the payment process

Request reimbursement online or via the mobile app, and submit your documentation, or submit a manual claim. See p. 2 for How to submit a reimbursement request.

Frequently asked questions

May I request dependent care funds in advance?

No. The Treasury Department and Internal Revenue Service regulations stipulate reimbursement is limited to what is available in the account and can only be made after services are rendered.

What if I submit a claim for more than I have in my account?

Any eligible claims in excess of the available balance will be pended, and additional funds will be paid out automatically as contributions are received.

How do dependent care FSAs work with other tax-advantaged accounts?

Since a dependent care FSA covers different expenses than health care FSA and a health savings account (HSA), which cover medical expenses, there are no regulations limiting a person from having a medical account alongside a dependent care FSA.

Simplify with e-certify

Our e-certify feature lets you capture your dependent care claim information and provider authorization on the spot using your mobile device, eliminating the need for paper receipts and accelerating reimbursements from your account.

When submitting a dependent care claim through your mobile app, simply select the e-verify option found at the bottom of the screen and follow the prompts to obtain your provider's signature electronically.

Once established, recurring claims with the same amount at the same provider will be automatically stored and easily accessed for quick and easy verification by your provider.

E-certify simplifies the dependent care reimbursement process so you can spend less time on paperwork and more time with those you love.

How to submit a reimbursement request

If you used personal funds — a personal credit card, cash or check — to pay for an eligible expense, you'll have to submit a request to be reimbursed. Here's how.

Getting started

Log into your account online or by using the mobile app.

Step 4

Submit your documentation

Follow the on-screen prompts to submit your documentation. If you're on your phone, you can take a picture and upload it directly. If on your computer, you can browse and select your image to upload.

You also have the option to fax your documentation when online, though this method takes longer to receive reimbursement. Fax the form, along with your documentation, to the number on the form. Continue through the on-screen prompts to finalize your request.

Each fax cover form has a unique barcode at the top; be sure to use the fax cover form for this claim. If you have more than one claim, send each claim as a separate fax.

You're done. If we have all the information we need, we'll process the claim.
